AMERICAN PUBLIC OPINION: TODAY VS. 30 YEARS AGO
 January 11-15, 2009

As CBS News Sunday Morning commemorates its 30th anniversary, this poll examines Americans' views on some key issues today compared to three decades ago when the program first aired.

OPTIMISM AND THE FUTURE

Americans are generally more optimistic about the future than they were in 1979. Two thirds of Americans now think the future will get better for people generally, whereas they were divided thirty years ago. (This poll was conducted just before Barack Obama assumed the presidency, at a point when Americans were particularly optimistic about his presidency.)

IN THE FUTURE, LIFE WILL BE...

	CBS/NYT	CBS/NYT
	Now	1/1979
Better for people generally	61%	46%
Worse for people generally	31	46

THE STANDING OF THE U.S. IN THE WORLD

As they did in 1979, most Americans think the U.S. has gotten less powerful as a world leader in the preceding 10 years. Compared to 1979, fewer Americans think the U.S. has gotten more powerful.

HOW POWERFUL IS THE U.S. COMPARED TO 10 YEARS AGO?

	CBS/NYT	CBS/NYT
	Now	2/1979
More powerful	12%	19%
Less powerful	55	53
As powerful	31	23

DOMESTIC V. FOREIGN CARS

Americans are far more critical of the quality of domestic cars than they were thirty years ago. In 1979 more Americans thought U.S. automakers built better cars, but today most give the nod to foreign car manufacturers.

WHO MAKES BETTER CARS?

	CBS/NYT	CBS/NYT
	Now	1/1979*
U.S. automakers	29%	46%
Foreign automakers	55	26

HOMOSEXUALITY

Public opinion on homosexual relations has changed over the years. In 1978, a Gallup Poll found that 62% of Americans thought homosexual relations between consenting results was wrong. Today, according to a CBS News/New York Times Poll, most Americans (54%) think homosexual relations between adults are not wrong.

HOMOSEXUAL RELATIONS BETWEEN ADULTS

	CBS/NYT	Gallup
	Now	11/1978
Wrong	41%	62%
Not wrong	54	25

PREMARITAL SEX

However, views on premarital sex have changed little in 30 years. A majority of Americans (60%) continue to think sexual relations between a man and a woman before marriage is okay. Today, 32% say such relations are wrong, compared to 37% who thought so in 1979.

SEXUAL RELATIONS BEFORE MARRIAGE

	CBS/NYT	CBS/NYT
	Now	7/1979
Wrong	32%	37%
Not wrong	60	56

51% of older Americans, age 65 and over, think premarital sex is wrong - the only age group in which more people hold that opinion.

LEGALIZING MARIJUANA

Like 30 years ago, a majority of Americans do not think the use of marijuana should be made legal, but the percentage that thinks it should be has grown. Now, 41% of Americans support legalizing marijuana use, compared to just 27% who felt that way in 1979.

SHOULD MARIJUANA USE BE LEGALIZED?

	CBS/NYT	CBS/NYT
	Now	7/1979
Yes	41%	27%
No	52	69

There is a huge generation gap on this issue. More adults under 45 (49%) approve of legalizing marijuana use than oppose (45%), while just 31% of adults over age 45 approve of it; six in 10 are opposed.

ABORTION

Opinions on the issue of abortion have not changed much over the years. According to a May 2008 Gallup Poll, 54% of Americans think abortion should be legal under certain circumstances - the same number who said that in 1979. About a quarter thinks abortion should be legal in all circumstances. Another 17% think abortion should be illegal.

VIEWS ON ABORTION

	Gallup 5/2008	Gallup 2/1979
Legal under any circumstances	28%	22%
Legal under certain circumstances	54	54
Illegal in all	17	19

MEN AND WOMEN: WHO HAS THE ADVANTAGE?

Women still think there are more advantages to being a man than a woman - similar to their views 30 years ago. But men's views on this have changed. Fewer men now think there are more advantages in being a man, and more think it doesn't matter.

Thirty years ago, a Los Angeles Times Poll found Americans were equally as likely to get most of their news from newspapers (42%) as television (41%). The internet was not available as a choice in the 1979 poll.

Americans are as just as religious - if not more religious - than they were thirty years ago, at least if church or religious service attendance is any indication. Today 35% of Americans say they attend religious service at least once a week, up from 28% who said so back in 1978. About a quarter say they attend religious service less than a few times a year - about the same percentage who said so back then.

This poll was conducted among a random sample of 1,112 adults nationwide, interviewed by telephone January 11-15, 2009. Phone numbers were dialed from RDD samples of both standard land-lines and cell phones. The error due to sampling for results based on the entire sample could be plus or minus three percentage points. The error for subgroups is higher.
